DSP EMPLOYEE CONSTANCE DICK RECOGNIZED FOR 56 YEARS OF STATE SERVICE

This week, Governor Ruth Ann Minner recognized Constance Dick for 56 years of distinguished State Service. Constance, an administrative assistant with the Delaware State Police since June 1951, made history in that she is the longest serving State employee.

“As I have said many times, our state employees are our most valuable resources, and Constance is a great example of the high caliber of our state employees,” said Governor Minner. “I commend her not only for her 56 years of state service but also for the professionalism and loyalty she consistently displayed as an employee of the Department of Safety and Homeland Security. I look forward to hearing about Constance’s achievements as she continues to be a model of employee excellence in the department.”

Constance has served her entire career at DSP Troop 4 in Georgetown and earned several honors over the years including the DSP 1995 Civilian of the Year.

“Constance’s dedication to the Delaware State Police and the citizens of this State is admirable,” said Safety and Homeland Security Secretary David B. Mitchell. “Over the years, Constance has become an integral part of the Troop 4 staff bringing a wealth of knowledge and historical perspective to her position.”

Constance will continue working at Troop 4 and has no plans for retirement.

“Connie's service to the citizens of Delaware and to the members of the State Police truly exemplifies her commitment to public service. She is a valued asset and wonderful person who represents many of the qualities of all our civilian employees. I look forward to many more years of continued service from Connie,” said DSP Col. Thomas MacLeish

Sen. Thurman Adams and Rep. Joseph Booth also recognized Constance’s commitment to State government presenting tributes of appreciation from the Delaware General Assembly.

She resides in Georgetown with her husband, George, who is a retired DSP Captain.
