Capitol Police Investigating Bomb Threat at New Castle County Courthouse

Location: New Castle County Courthouse, Wilmington

Date of Occurrence: Tuesday, February 26, 2013

The Delaware Capitol Police are continuing to investigate a bomb threat called into the New Castle County Courthouse today. After receiving the bomb threat by phone at 12:14 p.m., Capitol Police fully evacuated the building. Capitol Police then utilized several explosive detection canines from multiple police agencies to search the parking garage and each floor of the building. The search was completed at 2:40 p.m. No explosives were found and employees were allowed to reenter the building.

Sent by authority of Chief William Jopp.
